FESTIVAL WEEK.

The Odd Fellows Carnival a Big Success.

The Largest Crowds of the Week Expected To-day and Tomorrow.

The street fair is proving to be a thoroughly satisfactory carnival in all respects. The attendance since Tuesday has not been what it should be, but the line of attractions presented by the Robinson Amusement Company deserves nothing but praise.

There are ten or twelve shows and all are clean, moral and worthy exhibitions. The free attractions are all that was claimed for them. Nick Carter dives daily backward from a tower 100 feet high into a small tank of water.

Madame Sorocco ascends the spiral stairway enclosed in a ball. The Keach family give a varied performance on the trapeze twice each day.

Mr. Sam H. Joseph, the veteran show man, is Mr. Robinson's chief manager, and he is giving close personal attention to every detail. He has had much experience in the circus business, and is an invaluable man in his department.

The tent shows are being well patronized. Some of them are of such excellence that they are visited again and again. Two of the best shows on the ground are in front of Hotel Latham. One of them, Lenoira, is a marvel and mystifies all who see it. The other, Dreamland, presents a constant round of fun.

The voting contest is attracting eager attention. The count yesterday showed the following parties have received more than 800 votes: No. 1. Lucien H. Davis, 3536 " 2. Gus Tandy, 2821 " 3. Geo. E. Randle, 2434 " 4. Miss Katie McDaniel, 926 " 5. Booth Morris, 830 Many others have received scattering votes. The contest will close today.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Only Minor Civil Cases Being Tried This Week.

But little business has been done in Circuit Court this week.

One small damage suit was tried Wednesday. J. R. Berry sued J. H. Kistner for damages and the jury awarded him $60.

The case of W. H. Deason against the L. & N. Railroad Company, claiming damages for being put off a train, was continued until the next term.

Marshal Cook's damage suit against his father, P. H. Cook, claiming $300 or $400 for timber cut, etc., was in progress yesterday and took up the whole day.

RETURNS TO CHRISTIAN.

Dr. Bell Will Resume Practice at Casky.

Dr. J. E. Bell, who formerly lived at Casky, has returned to this county to reside. He has purchased a house at Casky and will resume the practice of medicine at that place. When Dr. Bell left here he went to California and for the past year has been assistant surgeon on the U. S. ship, Marble Head. During his absence he spent several months at Panama.

TRIGG COUNTIAN

Victim of a Runaway And Was Badly Bruised.

Mr. Ed Thomas, of Cadiz, while driving into the city Tuesday, was thrown from his buggy and sustained some bad bruises and cuts. The horse became frightened and ran off, throwing him from the vehicle. Mr. Thomas was taken to the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. John Quick, where he received medical attention. It is not thought that his injuries will result seriously.

DRIVEN BACK.

Japanese Forced To Retire And Kuropatkin Claims Victory.

Weather Conditions Have Stopped Fighting For the Present.

With both armies exhausted by the long-continued desperate fighting androads made impassable and stream banks full from the recent torrential rains, there has been a lull in the active operations along the Shalke river. Latest dispatches say that yesterday passed quietly, and the brief advice bearing on the situation as existing today indicate that the battle has not been resumed.

The Russians still hold the important position of Lone Tree Hill, around which fighting of the most desperate character centered, and Gen. Sakharoff reports that their left flank has been slightly advanced. A veil is drawn over the general situation, but the net result of the tremendous battle seems to be that Oyama, while effectually checking the Russian advance, has been unable to follow it up with a vital blow, and has himself been stayed in his attempts to materially advance his position.

A dispatch from Mukden says that the Japanese appear to be slowly falling back, but Sakharoff reports to St. Petersburg that they are concentrating at Linshing, west of the railroad. Kuropatkin is strengthening his right, and the dispatches indicate that the battle will be resumed as soon as the roads dry.

A Tokyo dispatch says that no advances from the front were received last night or today.

Ophthalmoscope and Retinoscope - Combined.

An up-to-date instrument for the diagnosis of the pathological condition of the interior of the eye without the use of a dark room or mydriatics to dilate the pupil. By its use all errors of refraction are detected and measured to an absolute certainty, without asking the patient any questions—thereby leaving the operator independent of the intelligence of the patient. (Great for children.) It is the latest and most wonderful production of optical science. By its use the retina (veins and arteries), is seen as clearly as the patient's face. This is a costly instrument, but as I have been always deeply interested, and made a specialty of examining and fitting of glasses to the eye. I have kept up to date with the latest and best methods and instruments and feel that the best is none too good for my patrons. They may rest assured that they will get the latest and best service obtainable anywhere—derived from long years of practical experience with up-to-date appliances and for the least money. Respectfully,

M. D. KELLY,

Cures Rheumatism and Catarrh—Medicine Sent Free.

Send no money—simply write and try Botanic Blood Balm at our expense. Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) kills or destroys the poison in the blood which causes the awful aches in back and shoulder blades, shifting pains, difficulty in moving fingers, toes or legs, bone pains, swollen muscles and joints of rheumatism, or the foul breath, hawking, spitting, droppings in the throat, bad hearing, specks flying before the eyes, all played out feelings of catarrh. Botanic Blood Balm has cured hundreds of cases of 30 or 40 years standing after doctors, hot springs and patent medicines had all failed. Most of these cured patients had taken Blood Balm as a last resort. It is especially advised for chronic deep seated cases. Impossible for any one to suffer the agonies or symptoms of rheumatism or catarrh while or after taking Blood Balm. It makes the blood pure and rich, thereby giving a healthy blood supply. Cures are permanent and not patching up. Sold at drug stores, $1 per large bottle. Sample of Blood Balm sent free and prepaid, also special medical advice by description of trouble, and a copy of Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two 50 cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." 25c, 50c, $1.00. For sale by R. C. SOMETHING OF A PUZZLE.

Let One for Which It Is Not Difficult to Furnish a Fair Answer.

The Neneah Times publishes the following anecdote:

"A banker on his way home found a ten dollar bill, took down the number of it, put it in his pocket, and went on his way rejoicing. When he reached home the butcher was there with a meat bill of $10. The banker paid the butcher the ten he had found. The butcher paid the same ten to the printer, and the printer to the grocer and the grocer to the banker. He noticed that it was the same bill which he had found, and at the same time noticed that it was a counterfeit. Who was the loser?"

No one was the loser, to be sure, asserts the Milwaukee Wisconsin. But who was the gainer? The story does not represent the banker as insolvent, and it is to be presumed he was not dependent upon the accident of finding the bill in the street for ability to pay his butcher. Had he paid the butcher in genuine money, the butcher would have been enabled to pay the printer, and the printer to pay the grocer, and the grocer to pay the banker, so that in that event the chain of accounts would have been liquidated just the same. Nobody was any richer for the finding of the counterfeit, for it returned to the hands of the one who had innocently placed it in circulation, and in coming to him it wiped out a claim which he held against another as large as the claim against him to satisfy which he had paid it out. Had the finder of the bill been a dishonest or irresponsible man, the counterfeit might sooner or later have wrought injury. The accident of its return to the banker, who, of course, retired it from circulation when he found out its real character, brought its career to a harmless conclusion, leaving the banker and everybody else no richer and no poorer than they would have been if the medium employed in squaring the series of accounts had been a genuine bank note. But the anecdote illustrates nothing in particular, unless it be that honest people won't cheat.

THE CURSE OF FLANNELS.

Recollections of Corroding Bitterness of Spirit Engendered by the Red Kink.

At the age of six, I found myself—haplessly—removed to a town possessing a bleak climate and many woollen manufacturing factories, writes Winifred Kirkland, in Atlantic. It was the custom of the house mothers to buy flannel by the piece direct from the factory, red flannel, hot, thick, felled like a Laplander, and the invention of Lucifer. Out of this flannel was cut a garment, a continuous, all-embracing garment, of neuter gender, in which every child in that town might have been observed flaming Mephistophelian-like after the morning bath. A pattern was given to our mother. The hair shirt—I laugh when I read! By definition the hair shirt must have possessed geographic limits of attack; but my flannels left no pore unlicked, untormented; they heated the flesh until scarlet fever paled into a mere pleasantry, and they soured the milk of amiability in me forever. The rotation of the seasons reduced itself to terms of red flannel. In the autumn, when the happy fowls and foliage alike moulted, shed the superfluous, when bracing October set the body in a glow, I alone of living things must be done up in flannel! And spring, that season of vernal bourgeoisie, was the time when I, too, like any other accursed, slipped free of all stuffy incassings, and could sprout and spring in air and sun, clad in blessed, blessed muslin. I shall never forget the corroding bitterness induced by flannels. At times they absolutely reduced me to faintness with my religion, so that filial piety, the ordaining of the seasons, and the very catechism itself hung in the balance of the conflict. I believe I can hardly overstate the spiritual detriment done me by flannels.

MOST ANCIENT HIGHWAY.

One of the Oldest Routes in the World Used by Caravans of the Arabians.

The road from Homs to Hama runs almost due north, a straight white line cutting across the green fields. It is one of the oldest routes in the world. Caravans have been passing along it for at least 5,000 years, just as we saw them—long strings of slow-moving camels with their brightly-colored bags of wheat, says Scribner's Magazine.

One could almost imagine that Pharaoh was again calling down the corn of Hamath to fill his granaries against the seven years of famine. But even here the old things are passing. Just beyond the long line of camels was a longer line of fellah women, their dirty blue robes kilted above their knees, carrying upon their shoulders baskets of earth and stone for the roadbed of the new French railway. The carriage road is French, too, and a very good road it is. Some men were repairing it with a most ingenious roller. It was a great round stone, drawn by two oxen, and having its axle prolonged by a 20-foot pole, at the end of which a bare-legged Arab was fastened to balance the whole affair. If the stone had toppled over the picture of the Arab dangling at the top of the slender flagstaff would have been worth watching.

All along the ride we were reminded of the past. It is a fertile soil, but the very wheat fields are different from ours. Only a few yards in width, they are often of tremendous length. I hesitated to commit myself to figures, but it is certain that the thin, green fields would stretch away in the distance until lost over some little elevation. At one place the road was cut through a hill honeycombed with rock tombs, which the haj said were Jewish. Every now and then we passed a tell, or great hemispherical mound, built up of the rubbish of a dozen ruined towns, for even as late as Roman times this was a well-cultivated and populous country. There is now no lumber available for building purposes, and in a number of villages the houses are built with conical roofs of stone. Where the rock happens to be of a reddish tinge the houses remind one of nothing so much as a collection of Indian wigwags; where the stone is white, as at Tell el Bish, it glitters and sparkles like a fairy city cut out of loaf sugar.

SETTLING MEXICAN STRIKE

Agitators Speedily Taken in Hand by Government and Summarily Dealt With.

"Strikes are unknown in the Mexican mines," said Dr. Frank J. Toussaint, in speaking about conditions in Mexico, where, according to the Milwaukee Sentinel, he spends considerable of his time. "While down on my recent trip to Huapac, Sonora, I heard of an attempt to strike. The men urged on by a number of agitators, formulated a protest against their hours and wages and threatened to go out on a strike if their demands were not complied with. The operators scarcely had time to look over the demands made by their men when word came from the government in Mexico City to arrest the agitators immediately. Those who hailed from the states were ceremoniously deported and the Mexican miners who had been led by these unionizers went back to their work, or to speak more properly, they continued their work, as they had not yet quit work."

"To get a mining claim in Mexico is the easiest thing in the world; all you have to do is find some stone, tree, or other mark, and then draw an imaginary line around as much of a tract as you want and then make your denouncement. This will cost you $32.50. A surveyor will then be sent out and measure off as many rods as you want. He will take about $100 for his services. The plot which he prepares now goes to the capital and in due course of time you will be asked to pay a tax equal to about $10 for a parcel of land the size of a city block. The tax must be paid annually, and as long as you do this you will be considered the owner of that claim."

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Hopkinsville Household Will Find Them So.

To have pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comfort to hundreds of Hopkinsville readers.

Mrs. J. T. Johnson, wife of J. T. Johnson, superintendent of streets, living at 616 N. Main street says: "During the latter part of last summer I noticed growing upon me a dull aching across the small of my back which kept getting worse until the pain became so severe that I was hardly able to walk around, and many times could not attend to my household duties. The trouble I believe came from the kidneys for I suffered from other distressing symptoms of this complaint. I was subject to the most severe headaches and frequent attacks of dizziness. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills and my husband got a box for me at Thomas & Traher's drug store. They did me a wonderful amount of good. I do not know what I should have done if it had not been for Doan's Kidney Pills."

"Heleu Keller day," named in honor of Miss Helen Adams Keller, of Boston, who, born deaf, dumb and blind, has acquired national fame through her educational success, and the only person in whose honor the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company has designated a special day, was celebrated at the World's Fair grounds Tuesday, with exercises participated in by prominent educators of the deaf, dumb and blind from all parts of the United States.

The battle raging around Mukden is undoubtedly a very sanguinary affair, but the "estimates" of losses made by the opposing sides while withholding their own figures, are unworthy of credence. The war correspondents are closely censored, but the war liars are given free rein.

The Clinton Democrat has changed hands, having been sold by Warner Moore, Jr., to Sherwood Jackson. The Clinton Gazette says the new owner declined to purchase the subscription list, because a number of subscribers paid in advance during a recent voting contest.

The total registered vote in Owensboro is 3535. Of these 1,786, or more than one half, are Democrats. There are 1457 Republicans, 262 non-committal and 30 prohibitionists. The Democrats are assured of a good majority.

President Escurrea, of Paraguay, has resigned in deference to the wishes of revolutionists, who expressed a preference for Gen. Eacabar. The latter has been appointed acting President.

The Course of Silver Democrats.

Early in the campaign the Republicans had hoped for a defection on the part of the Silver Democrats in Kentucky. They had burdened the mails with literature, sent at the expense of the Government, pointing out how badly the silver men had been treated at St. Louis and urging them to knife the ticket as the only means of revenging the alleged insults that had been heaped upon Mr. Bryan. But the source of these suggestions was so apparent that the silver men, who represent the real bone and sinew of Democracy in this State, consigned the stuff to the waste basket.

They find nothing in the St. Louis platform that they can not subscribe to. It contains every cardinal principle of Democracy, only failing to refer to the money question, because there are graver problems pressing for settlement. If Mr. Bryan can grow enthusiastic over Parker and Davis, and there is no denying the sincerity of his advocacy, every free silver man in this, or any other state, can follow his leadership, confident that they are doing the only possible thing that could result in Democratic harmony and victory.

Tom Taggart and Indiana.

Those who complained of listlessness in the conduct of the National campaign have no right to enter an objection now. There never was a more thorough organization in a Presidential contest. Every committee man's work is laid out for him, and there is no sign of shirking anywhere. Judge Parker is in constant touch with headquarters. His practical knowledge of politics is of inestimable value to the party. He has made no blunders. With the skill of a Japanese general he has found the weak spots in the enemy's ranks, and when it has been necessary he has charged the seemingly impregnable heights, or has flanked them and driven them out of entrenched positions.

LION'S SHARE

Of Prizes Captured by Kentucky Exhibitors.

Two Medals Won by Hopkinsville People, on Tobacco and Corn.

Kentucky stands far up in the lead in the list of awards made to the exhibitors of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, having a total of 186, divided as follows: Six grand prizes, thirty-five gold medals, fifty-three silver medals, seventy-five bronze medals. This record, too, is made in the face of the fact that there were only three Kentuckians on the jury of awards.

Those who have studied Kentuck's exhibits at the fair expected the International Jury of Awards to recognize some of the merits of Kentucky's representation, but they could not have hoped for the result obtained—186 awards. It is indeed a remarkable record—one that no State will beat and few, if any, will equal.

Tobacco Pre-eminent.

The weed that Sir Walter Raleigh made respectable and that Kentucky made famous occupies four big blocks—each block covering over 4,600 square feet—in the central nave of the Palace of Agriculture, and the Kentucky exhibit has one fourth of the entire space. All the tobacco States—Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Connecticut—lined up here against Kentucky and the competition was keen. But the jury knew a good thing and Kentucky walked off with five grand prizes, thirteen gold medals, thirteen silver medals and eighteen bronze medals. One of the grand prizes was given to the State of Kentucky for the best exhibit of the kind in the entire twenty-four acres of displays in the building. It was marked 98, three more than necessary to bring it within the grand prize charmed circle. The other four grand prizes went to individual exhibitors.

The list of awards on tobacco is not really complete for the reason twenty-two instead of thirteen gold medals and twenty-seven instead of eighteen bronze medals were recommended by the group jury which made the examination, but owing to a ruling of the department jury that only one medal could be awarded an exhibitor in a given group, the number was correspondingly reduced, as several exhibitors had been voted two medals each.

The following awards were made to Western Kentucky people:

Wm. H. Cummings & Sons, Hopkinsville, leaf tobacco, African types, gold medal.
Z. T. Flower, Olmstead, leaf tobacco, dark, grand prize.
Gallaher Ltd, Owensboro, Green River, gold medal.
E. W. Gunn, Adairville, leaf tobacco, dark, gold medal.

American Tobacco Co., Owensboro, leaf tobacco, Green river type, bronze medal.

Seventy-Five in Agriculture.

Awards to the number of seventy-five in Kentucky's general agricultural exhibit have not satisfied the director of exhibits for the Kentucky commission. And he has appealed to the superior jury for a grand prize on the exhibit as a whole, and there is every reason to believe this request will be granted. The seventy-five awards are divided eight golds, eleven silvers, and fifty-six bronzes. It was in this exhibit that the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, of Lexington, made such a remarkable record. It received three gold medals and one silver medal, and as all four were under different groups, it will be allowed to retain the total number. The list includes:

Miss M. E. Ratcliff, Paducah, preserves, strawberry and blackberry, bronze medal.

Dowser & Brothers, Guthrie, leaf tobacco, dark, bronze medal.

C. W. Hawkins, Owensboro, wheat, silver medal.

J. R. Kirby, Smith's Grove, orchard grass seed, silver medal.

THREE TRAMPS

Killed Near Wingo While Stealing a Ride.

An L. C. freight train was wrecked at Wingo, Sunday morning, and three tramps, a white man named Thompson, of Water Valley, an unknown white man, and a negro were killed. The train was going down a grade when it broke in two, and two of the cars telescoped, crushing the tramps, who were stealing a ride. It is supposed that the men cut the air hose of the train so that it would stop at Water Valley, which is just below Wingo, and Thompson could get off. Thompson lived a few minutes. The others were dead when found.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

Several hundred disciples of Isaac Walton gathered at the vacant field park in Chicago one afternoon recently to witness the first open contest of bait casting since ever held in the world. The tournament was a contest of the Chicago Fly Casting club. Fly casting has been the principal contention of fishing clubs until quite recently when bait casting became the proper bait. No open contest of this sort had ever before been witnessed in the world's history. In 1900 an international fly fishing tournament was held in Chicago and subsequent ones in San Francisco. Chicago fishermen have been bait casting the ideal fishing sport. Chicago is the pioneer of that game and has more "overhead" bait casting than any other fishing port in the world. The bait used is generally a frog. All other lures are with a fly—and in some cases the old style angle worm. The fly is a "delicacy" contest, with a one-quarter ounce bait at a target 100, 65, 70, 75 and 80 feet distant. Two casts at each distance were allowed, and the one with the longest distance was the winner. This proved the most delicate touch in casting. It is considered about the finest piece of work the artist caster can possess. The target is a float with a wooden circumference of five feet and a diameter of one foot. The float is cast, then one foot of water to an iron rod, which divides another foot of water for a wooden ball about six inches in diameter in the center of the float. To hit the ball or cast the bait inside of the inner rim counts perfect, or 100. If the bait hits the wooden outer rim counts 90. For each foot or fraction from the target a point is deducted from the perfect score is counted. Before entering the contests the pole, bait, etc. of each contestant was weighed, measured, and the make of the rod noted. This was for the purpose of ruling with the international clubs in Europe and in the United States, as an open event for world's championship. The first event was Joseph Hohmann, whose average record was 98.5. Mr. Hohmann will be remembered as a member of the 1902 and 1904 open tournaments for all around casting. The second was for "distance and accurate bait casting. This was an exciting contest and was won by T. M. Smutzer, securing an average of 98.5. The third and last event was the long distance casting, which was held on the lawn. With a broken rod and a broken line, he fell him in the first event, Ernest Bartholomew, of Kalamazoo, Mich., sent the buzzing little leaden ball 163½ feet, ten feet of which were taken off as a demerit for having fallen shy that the center of the center pole. There was a gusty, choppy wind blowing and under the conditions the throw of 158 feet was considered a marvel.

Remaining submerged for nearly four minutes is the remarkable performance of Thomas M. Smutzer, of Denver, who has started the swimming world. The fact that Smutzer is only 16 years old makes the feat all the more remarkable. In a recent sensational feat performed in London, England, he was able, by reason of his extraordinary lung power, to swim the distance of 112 yards five inches in the remarkable time of two minutes 2½ seconds, thus giving him the title of world's amateur champion. The management of baths in London, where this wonderful feat took place, considered it presumption on the part of such a youngster to aspire to break the world's professional record, held by Prof. Finney, who swam under water a distance of 113 yards and one inch, but, as he was a stranger, they agreed to allow him to test his abilities. He desired that the water should be regulated to a temperature of 75 degrees. Plunging into it he made 112 yards and five inches, to the amazement of the attendants and others who came from other parts of the building to him. He beat Finney's record for time at this distance. It is also worthy of notice that while Smutzer had the water at a temperature of 75 degrees, Finney's record was made at 70 degrees, which is considered among swimmers as of great advantage to the latter. It is also pointed out that if the Denver bath had been the same as the one he could have beaten the world's record. Young Smutzer is going over to England again soon to try for the under water swimming record of the world.

Prince Albert recently established a new half-mile track record by pacing a mile in 2:03½ without a wind shield at the Allentown (Pa.) fair races.

George S. Lyon, of Toronto, is the Olympic golf champion, having won the honor by defeating Newcomb and Wren. Champion H. Chandler Egan, of Exmore, in the 36 hole final at St. Louis by three up and two to play. The Western Golf association team won the Olympic team championship by beating the Trans-Mississippi team 21 points.

Such notice shall further provide that if upon the canvass of the votes cast at such election it shall appear that two-thirds (2/3) of the qualified electors of the city, voting on said question, shall have voted in favor of incurring such an indebtedness, it shall be the duty of the Board of Council of said city to pass an ordinance providing for the mode of creating such an indebtedness, and of paying the same by the levy and collection of an annual tax upon real and personal property, subject to taxation within the City of Hopkinsville, sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof within a period of not more than twenty years from the time of contracting same.

The polls will be opened and votes received at Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 1; Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 2; Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 3; Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 4; and Hopkinsville voting precinct No. 5, said places being respectively the regular voting places in the five city precincts.

The election will be held pursuant to an ordinance of the Board of Council of the City of Hopkinsville, made and adopted at its meeting held on the 26th day of September, 1904, and which ordinance is in words and figures as follows:—"ORDINANCE."

Whereas, Many of our citizens have expressed a strong and urgent desire that the City of Hopkinsville should construct and maintain a sewerage system within said city, for the reason that the best interest of the city and its residents demand that such sewerage system be without delay constructed and maintained; that same will be conducive to cleanliness and good sanitation, a preventive of disease and designed for the general promotion of health, as it will also greatly add to the domestic comfort and convenience of the people, and many important municipal advantages gained; and whereas this Board has had under consideration the question as to the construction and maintenance of such sewers for the City of Hopkinsville, and think it proper that the voters of the city should have opportunity to express their views upon this most important municipal question.

Be it ordained by the Board of Council of the City of Hopkinsville, in the State of Kentucky:

First—That the Board of Council of the City of Hopkinsville, deeming it necessary to incur an indebtedness of Fifty Thousand Dollars, ($50,000.00) for the purpose of constructing a system of sewers for the City of Hopkinsville, and the payment of which indebtedness cannot be met without exceeding the income and revenue provided for said city for this year, 1904, and cannot be met out of the revenue for the current fiscal year, it is hereby ordered that an election by the qualified electors of the City of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, be held in said city on the regular election day on

STATE GRANGE.

Gov. Beckham and Gov. Bachelder Delivered Addresses.

Cynthiana, Ky., Oct. 28.—The twenty-fourth annual session of the Kentucky State Grange convened in the opera house Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The grange was called to order by Master F. P. Wolcott, of Kenton county. The morning was taken up in enrolling the delegates and members from over the State, which showed that over 300 were present. In the afternoon a second session was held, and the State Master delivered his annual address. He reviewed the past and present condition of the order, stating that the order now numbered over 1,000,000 members, with organizations in every State in the Union. The reports of the officers were then received and accepted. The secretary's and treasurer's reports showed the Kentucky State Grange in a more thriving condition than ever before. One of the most notable features of the afternoon session was the presentation of O. K. Kelley, of Washington, D. C., the founder of the order over forty years ago.

At the night session addresses, reports and standing committees, conferring of degrees occupied the time of the members. The session Wednesday morning was devoted to the transaction of regular business until 11 o'clock, when Gov. Beckham delivered an address in the opera house, followed by Gov. Bachelder, of Vermont, and past lecturer of the National Grange, Mortimer Whitehead, of New Jersey.

SOLDIER WEDS NEGRESS.

John Smith's Services No Longer Needed in U. S. Army.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The surgeon general of the army has concurred in the recommendation of Gen. Grant that John J. Smith, a member of the United States Army Corps, stationed at Fort Mott, N. J., who is said to have married a negress, be discharged from the army, "for the good of the service." This recommendation has been forwarded to the Secretary of War for his action.

Gen. Grant acted on the recommendation of Contract Surgeon Sparrenberg, post medical officer at Fort Mott, N. J., who complained of alleged misconduct on the part of Smith prior to his marriage, for which, he said, he lectured him. Smith wrote to the War Department inquiring if there was any reason why he should not be permitted to marry a colored woman, setting forth that her character was good and that he could establish a good character for himself by his record.

The post commander at Fort Mott in forwarding the paper to department headquarters did not add his approval to the post surgeon's recommendation for Smith's discharge.

MR. BARKER'S APPEAL

To The Tobacco Growers of Christian County.

You are ordered to meet Saturday, Oct. 22nd, at your voting precincts to sign the constitution of the Dark Tobacco Association. It is necessary that 70 per cent. of the tobacco growers sign this before it can be operative, and we must not let our neighboring counties of Todd and Logan, and Robertson, Tenn., who have 99 to 100 per cent. of signatures, make a better showing than we do.

The interest in this matter is becoming more intense each day and if we will go, and urge our neighbors to go, to the precinct meetings on the 22nd and help this work we will at once feel the effect of our co-operation. We only need to stand together once, and our united strength will reward us so fully that it will simplify the whole matter. Let me urge you that you not let this opportunity pass. It is admitted all by tobacco men that this is a short crop and a much better one than last, and we can get a good price for it if you will unite your efforts.

LOWELL'S "WITCH FARM."
Forest Near New York City That at Times Appears to Have a Farm on It.

A curious story of James Russell Lowell has appeared. The tale is printed with question marks, says the Chicago Daily News. It runs about as follows and deals with a "witch farm." The place is a forest near New York, at some distance, but within a walk from the city. On the edge of the forest a farm will at times appear, which no one remembers to have ever seen, unless he happens to be among the few who have had the uncanny privilege. There is no one about the farm, no sound is heard, yet there are signs of busy occupation. The door is open, empty milk pails lean against the wall, newly cleaned pans and dairy utensils and butter churns are set out to dry; clothes hang on the line in a little drying ground.

Whoever chances on the farm seldom stops long to look. He will pass on, thinking to himself: "I don't seem to remember that farm. I must inquire about it in town." In town not a soul knows anything about it, and never will that person see the farm again, however often he may return to look for it. Then others will go out to seek the witch farm. Over and over again will they pass and re-pass the very spot where it had been seen, retracing their steps and puzzling and saying: "It must be there; we have mistaken the way."

There are few indeed to whom the spectral farm has shown itself. Lowell himself once saw it. On the verge of the wood he passed a house and which appeared precisely as has been described. Lowell saw it all and passed on without thinking; then suddenly stopped short with a feeling of something strange, turned and sauntered slowly back. But no house at all was there and he was unable to find again the exact spot where it had been.

SHOWERS IN AFTERNOON.
According to This Account They Are More Frequent Than in the Morning.

"Did you ever stop to think about the fact that we have more showers in the afternoon than we have in the morning, and the causes which bring about this result?" asked a man who takes an interest in meteorological questions, says the New Orleans Times Democrat.

"The chief factor is the upward movement of the air which is brought about by the heat. You see in clear weather the heat is not at its height until midday. The changes which set in as a result of the air movement in the afternoon, and the gradual withdrawal of the sun's force as the orb rolls down toward the western horizon will bring about just those conditions favorable to the production of showers, and the next result is the showers we so often experience in the afternoon.

"There seems to be in this, as in all of nature's plans, a fine wisdom. It would be impossible to measure the advantage of these showers to plant life. Often plants need resuscitation after the severe heat of the day. They are in a wilted condition and need the sprinkling we give the plants in the flower garden and lawn. Nature does the sprinkling by sending a good, refreshing shower. The afternoon shower is a great institution, too, from the standpoint of human beings, and other animals, for animals, you know, frequently begin to droop under the depressing influence of severe heat. And, as a rule, the shower is needed more in the afternoon than at any other period of time."

Better So.

"Why do the roses fade slowly away?" she inquired, poetically.

"Well," replied the bald-headed young man, "when you think it over it's all for the best. It's more comfortable to have them fade slowly away than to go off all of a sudden like a torpedo."—Tit Bits.

SIZE OF SHIPS INCREASING
It Will Not Be Long Before a Thousand-Foot Steamer Will Be Built.

The average length of ships has increased from 50 to 60 per cent, during the last quarter of a century, says Bryson Cunningham, in Cassier's Magazine. The 455 feet of the Britannic of 1874 seems almost insignificant compared with the 702 feet of the later White Star liner, the Cedric, and the 760 feet of the projected Commodore. The 1,600-foot vessel will assuredly not be long in coming. Berths are even now being devised to accord with this standard and entrance locks lengthened. A few years back 500 feet were considered an extreme dimension; nowadays this is deemed very moderate. The length of an entrance lock does not, of course, absolutely limit the size of vessels.

The beam of ships has increased more rapidly than the length. The beam of the Britannic was 45 feet, and a ratio between length and breadth of about 10 to 1 was maintained fairly well until ten years ago, when the Campania was built with a breadth of 65 feet to a length of 600 feet. At present the dimensions exhibited in the Cedric and Celtic, length 680 feet, breadth 75 feet; the Walmer Castle, length 570 feet, breadth 64 feet, and other vessels indicate a decided tendency to indicate the establishment of a ratio of 9 to 1. The maximum beam does not yet exceed 78 feet, which is amply covered by entrance locks and passages 80 to 100 feet in width, constructed 50 years ago under the regime of paddle steamers. Consequently the increase in beam has not had so perceptible an effect on dock construction as the increase in length.

Only in depth has the progress of naval construction been less marked. The draught of the Campania, 23 feet in 1893, was no greater than that of some vessels 20 years later. The largest German types have a loaded draught of only 29 feet, while the most modern British vessels attain to 32 feet, but in neither case is the increase proportional to that of the other dimensions. This discrepancy is due to the difficulty of obtaining adequate depth of water in approach channels and over the sills of existing docks.

ENGLAND'S IMMIGRATION.
Problem That Is Giving That Country Something Difficult to Cope With.

One of the burning questions of the day in England is alien immigration. There is a strong and growing agitation in favor of restricting it somewhat on the lines adopted in this country, and the government has pledged itself to legislate against undesirable immigrants, either in the present session of parliament or the next.

Nevertheless, says an eastern exchange, England's immigration problem is a mere bagatelle compared with America's. Only one person in 170 in the United Kingdom is an alien not naturalized as a British subject. In London, where the foreigners congregate most thickly, the proportion is 1 in 40; and in some of the London slums 1 in 12.

New York has daily newspapers printed in German, French, Italian, Spanish and Yiddish; and other publications in at least a score of different tongues, including Arabic, Chinese and Japanese. London has only one foreign newspaper, which is printed in German and issued weekly. This fact alone shows how much smaller are the foreign colonies there than in New York.

England has benefited immensely in the past from immigration, and many of her greatest men today are descended from immigrants.

The British lace-making industry was created by Huguenot refugees from France. A poor Scandinavian boy named Bessemer did more for Britain's iron and steel industries than any other man.

Lord Cromer and Lord Milner, two of England's greatest colonial administrators, are the sons of immigrants, the father of the former being a Dane, and of the latter a German. Lord Goshen is the son of a German, and so was Lord Herschell, the late lord chancellor. Beaconsfield was descended from a family of Italian Jews.

Life Is At The Worst

For the woman who enters on that period known as "the change." Life that has hitherto run happily and smoothly is jolted by its accustomed grooves by a sudden shock, which jars the body and distracts the brain. The suffering of women at this period varies, but while some escape with little distress, the majority of women suffer more or less acutely at this trying time.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proves itself anew the friend of women at this crisis. It cures headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness and other womanly disorders, and perfectly and permanently re-establishes the general health.

A Woman's Recommendation.

"My physician said I was suffering from the effects of 'change of life,' writes Mrs. M. Barnes, of Dulles Ferry, Shasta Co., Cal. 'I had heart disease and uterine trouble and hemorrhage. My head was so dizzy I could hardly stand up. When I began to use Dr. Pierce's medicines I improved right along. I took seven or eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' a teaspoonful three times a day, and the 'Pleasant Pellets' at night. I feel as well as I ever did. I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's medicines to suffering women. I think they are the best medicines in the world. I can't say enough in their praise. The 'Favorite Prescription' cured me after I had been sick for two years so I was hardly able to be about."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss. Accept no substitute.

As the Samoans are of a simple and childlike disposition, their amusements partake of the same character and it takes but little to delight them. Baseball has not found its way thither, even with the advent of the American, but cricket is their most popular game. There is but little difference made between the sexes in these floor games, so that the fairer portion of the com-games. Cricket or cri-keet, as they term it, is hardly played according to standard rules. To begin with, instead of 11 on a side there may be any number from 10 to 50, or double that number, often one village of 50 or 100 playing against another village of perhaps only 15 or 20.

There is no hard feeling, however, and all the bystanders applaud. The game sometimes runs on for two or three days, but is evidently just as interesting in the last contest as in the beginning.

Some enterprising trader has made a nest sum from the introduction of marbles, about in excited groups or kneeling at the game. It is most amusing to see a stalwart chief come strutting by, and catching sight of some favorite opponent, stop, produce a handful of marbles from the folds of his loin cloth, and squatting upon the ground enter into the game with all the zest of the 10-year-old.

It frequently happens that the players will congregate in such numbers in the public thoroughfare that the native police will come up, confiscate some of the marbles and disperse the crowd. I was quite interested with the promptness with which he attended to this duty until one day I discovered him with a few of his cronies having a quiet little game with the confiscated marbles. There is

A CRICKET PLAYER.

never any trouble nor violence and the games go happily on.

Across from the hotel is a large native hut which contains several generations and seemingly untold visitors and relatives. Here all sorts of games are hourly in progress, but the most interesting is that played by the hoary-headed grand-sires. Two old wrinkled men will sit for hours over a game of small stones, similar to that youthful delight, "Jack stones." Here also may be seen nearly every day an old man crouched opposite to an equally old tremendously fat woman and with a little knife they will play mumbly-peg for hours.

It is the most delightful thing to see old and young living on a common basis, everything, even to the games in the street, being shared alike.

A GIRL'S HEROIC PLUNGE INTO THE COLORADO RIVER.

Caught by a Herd of Stamped Cat-tles on a Long Suspension Bridge
--Horse and Rider Go Down Together.

Not many months ago, Miss Boush
Thorn, who is one of the loveliest girls in Texas, was out riding on horseback.
Nearly the road passed over the great suspension bridge, and spans the Colorado river.

She had trotted about a quarter of the way over when the sound of heavy hoofs caused her to glance around. Not a hundred yards behind a great cloud of dust floated in the hot air. And in this cloud a great herd of oxen was thundering straight towards her.

With eyes afloat, and hollowing loud and ominously, they rushed on to the bridge.

In spite of the awful fear that assailed her, the girl never for a moment lost her presence of mind. She glanced before her. Far away--it looked an interminable distance--she could see the end of the bridge. There only was safety. But was it possible to reach refuge before the oxen overtook them?

Her eyes fell upon the horse. Blazer
--that is the animal's name--was swift and sure of foot.

"Now, Blazer, go!" the girl commanded, tightening her grip upon the rein, and bringing her whip down on his flanks.

A bound; the horse had answered to the call. They were off--to safety?
But, no, something was happening that the girl had not foreseen. Under the huge weight of the living avalanche
the great suspension bridge was away-ing heavily. The movement caused the horse to stumble.

There came a mighty roar and the thunder of many hoofs. The herd was on them. Pale, but collected, the girl reined her steed round, and faced the mad onslaught.

Now, a young bull, its head bent low between its fore legs, thundered by;
another followed, old and weighty.
With nose almost touching the ground

THUNDERED STRAIGHT TOWARDS HER.

and head tilted sideways, it made straight for them, then swerved aside, grazing the chestnut's flanks with its sharp horns.

Still, the terrified girl never for a moment lost her self-possession, but cast around for some other means of escape. Only one loophole presented itself to her. Far below she could see the swirling, muddy waters of the Colorado.

For an instant she hesitated and patted the neck of her trembling steed.
Would he make that awful leap? She faced him towards the railing.

"Go, Blazer, leap!" the girl cried out.
And Blazer leaped, bearing his fair mistress on his back down, down, into the swift-running Colorado.

On the river bank a dozen cowboys had seen the gallant leap. Voiceless with excitement they watched both the girl and steed disappear with a great splash beneath the water.

At last the horse arose--ridiculous.
For a few minutes the animal swam around in a circle, as if in search of something.

Five yards away a figure appeared above the water and swam toward the horse. A minute more and the girl had clambered into the saddle. Then, with a delighted sigh, the horse swam quickly to the shore.

Springing from their saddles, the cowboys sent up cheer after cheer, and ran to the bank to assist the brave girl. Six rough, willing hands were outstretched to her, whilst one cowboy, filled with admiration for the faithful horse, put out his hands and embraced his gloomy steed affectionately.

Native American Music.

There is hidden among the mountains of Kentucky, Tennessee and the Carolina a people of whose inner nature and its musical expression almost nothing has been said. The music of the southern mountaineer is not only peculiar, but, like himself, peculiarly American. Nearly all mountaineers are singers. Their untrained voices are of good timbre, the women's being sweet and high and tremulous and their sense of pitch and tone and harmony remarkably true. The fiddler or the banjo player is well treated and beloved among them, like the minstrel of feudal days.

CONVENTIONS

In Every Voting Precinct to Be Held Tomorrow.

Tobacco Men Are Desperately In Earnest About Organizational.

Farmers should not forget the precinct meetings called at their respective voting places for tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, to take action on the Tobacco Question. The chairman for each of the 24 meetings to be held were designated the first of the week and appeared in Tuesday's Kentuckian. One of the objects of the meetings will be to receive signatures to the constitution and by-laws of the district organization.

Without some sort of organization the tobacco growers are helpless in the hands of the trust. Last winter the farmers were forced to sell below the cost of production. With wheat selling at two prices and tobacco at half price it is easy to see what the trust is doing to the people.

The former Lieutenant Governor is a nephew of Senator B. R. Tillman and the killing of Editor Gonzales and the subsequent trial of Col. Tillman created considerable interest, not only in South Carolina, but throughout the South.

It appears that there are parental objections to one of the suitors, while the other holds a written consent from the girl's parents to their marriage. First Republican Gun Fired at the Court House Wednesday.

Internal Revenue Collector E. T. Franks, of Owensboro, made the first Republican speech of the campaign at the Court House Wednesday afternoon to a fair-sized audience. He came unannounced from having spoken at Cadiz and a bell was rung about the streets, and as the street fair had brought a crowd to town, he secured a good audience. Mr. Franks is one of the most effective stumpers of his party and made a stirring speech, but failed to arouse any enthusiasm.

"A NOVEL PROPOSITION."

As Seen By an Advocate of Female Suffrage.

In his address at the Congress of Arts and Sciences in St. Louis, James Bryce, a member of the British Parliament and the author of "The American Commonwealth," discussed the question of Civil Service reform. He said that in order to purify the system, those holding office under it should be disqualified. "The public servant," he said, "should be forbidden to speak canvass or write on any political subject."

The Louisville Courier Journal says: This is rather a novel proposition for consideration in the country of unlimited suffrage.

What a singular idea of unlimited suffrage men have when they apply the phrase to a country in which about half the citizens are disfranchised on account of race! As long as this condition exists a proposition to disfranchise a given class can properly be called "novel."

Mr. Bryce sees in certain of our institutions grave danger to the "republic," but it never occurs to him or to his critics that this has never been a republic except in name. The time has come when America must either restrict the right of suffrage still further and thus grow less and less a republic, or else confer the right of suffrage on all citizens and begin the bitter-to-untried experiment of letting the people rule. Not some of the people, but all of the people.—Lida Calvert Obenchain.

GEORGETOWN REPUBLICAN.

Judge Sauley Makes an Important Ruling in Suburban Case.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 18.—Judge Sauley, presiding over the Scott county Circuit Court in Carroll's place, has given an opposite decision to that rendered several years ago in the case of Zach Gaskin vs. the City of Georgetown.

This means much politically. An ordinance was passed by the City Council throwing out a negro suburb. They claim that it was an expense to the city and such disposal was contested, but the ordinance was upheld by Judge Carroll.

The Court of Appeals sent the case back for a rehearing with the reverse results before Judge Sauley.

A little over 100 Republican votes, which controlled the balance of power, were at stake. This makes the town largely Republican.

The Delineator for November.

Those who follow every caprice of fashion, as well as those who have only the usual desire to appear becomingly dressed, will find the November Delineator exceptionally interesting and suggestive, while in the matter of fiction and general literature an equally high standard is maintained. The second part of Richard Le Gallienne's exquisite dream tale, "Poet," takes the reader into a world of exquisite lyrics, and there is also a curious tale of the Western Coast by Ethel Watts Mumford, and a short story by Dane Coolidge, "Lon Turkey of Pinal," containing marvellous elements of interest and originality.

W. Jay Mills has procured the material for the most interesting chronicle of the social events and personages of Old New York, which given in this number of the magazine and illustrated with photographs never before published.

W. G. Fitz Gerald tells the story of the trials and heroism of the missionary abroad, in an address that is graphically illustrated by the romance of Mozart and his stance is related in the "Comet" series. Dress in its relation to health is discussed by Dr. G. Peckham Murray, and there is a delightful paper in the "Joy of Living" series, while for the young people, Ada Marie Peck, and her Bigelow Paine contribute pleasant and instructive reading.

The interests of the home are tried thoroughly, with regard to special demands of the Thanksgiving season.
